Introduction MSTC2017

Developing a Sustainable Future

The Science and Technology Congress (MSTC) is the major event of COSTAM and has been held for nearly three decades. The Congress is to showcase the scientific and technological research activities in the country, especially under the MOSTI research grants. To sustain such growth in the activities, resilient partnerships between public and private universities as well as the industries need to be established. As an umbrella of the major scientific professional bodies, it has the objectives to promote the research and development in term of the findings of the institutions of higher learning and the research and development centres to the general public and also as a tool of communication among the scientists, engineers and technologists. The outcome shall be a continual process in the advancement of science and technology.

In keeping with the above objectives, the MSTC 2017 will focus on:

- Plenary or keynote lectures by leading scientists i.e. Fellows from the Academy of Sciences Malaysia (ASM) and international prominent scientists.
- Research papers by experts and young scientists
- Papers by researchers especially those with multidisciplinary and interdisciplinary approaches with smart partnerships
